THE PEOPLE'S LEGislature.

The organization of the Legislature as chosen by the people at the polls, was quietly effected last evening, and with that same desire to know and observe the law which has characterized every effort made by the Republicans to overcome the infamous conspiracy against popular rights the two branches immediately submit the question of the legality of their organization to the Supreme Court, and then adjourn to await the decision.

The interest of the hour at which the details of the proceedings were received present anything like a review of them and we can only refer our readers to the despatches, knowing they must approve of the law abiding spirit which pervaded the two branches and that they will rejoice in the prospect of a speedy settlement of the crisis, brought on by unscrupulous and infamous conspirators to overthrow the results of an election and strangle the voice of the people for their own base partizan purposes!

THEIR RIGHT UNDENIABLE.

(From the N. Y. Times Sat. Jan. 24.)

Gen. Chamberlain is announced as taking the oath of office Governor and Commander-in-chief in Maine, though the former title has also been given to Mr. Lamson, President of the Senate. The General, however, appears to possess the substance of power and to be inclined to use it if necessary. The Fusionists in the House spent an anxious day yesterday, waiting for a quorum, which did not appear, and which, so far as the proceedings show, has never been present. For the time being, their operations are at a standstill, and there is little chance of their being resumed. Their only way out is by the path which the Supreme Court indicated, namely, the admission of the members wrongfully deprived of their seats by the action of the Governor and Council. The pungent attributed to the Republicans of taking forcible possession of the State House, is probably the offspring of the just fears of the Fusionists. There is no proof that the Republicans have any such intention, unless they should find themselves with an undecided majority, in which case their rights in the Legislative hall should be undoubted.

[From the Kennebec Journal.]

A BLOODY PLOT.

ARMED MEN RECRUITED IN THE STATE HOUSE—OUTRAGE AND ASSASSINATION PREPARED FOR USE—A PART OF THE CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE STATE.

On Friday last it was discovered that a body of men, well known desperate characters, were secreted in one of the library rooms in the State House—that room being remote from the main library room, and a fitting place for a dark deed. They were armed to the teeth, and had in their possession besides the arms they carried a large slaughter of guns loaded with buckshot fixed, and abundance of ammunition. They were well prepared for desperate and bloody work, in a position which they could have held against a large body of men and from which they could have done bloody execution upon a crowd below.

These hired assassins were placed there by some of the leading conspirators. They had bloody work laid out for them and were prepared to do it. They were first compositors for a Guy Fawkes, to take part in another gunpowder plot.

Who placed them there? Who kept them there even after General Chamberlain had assumed command of the State House? Here is a subject that the legislature may well investigate.

It adds another to the many damning facts already known concerning the desperation of the men who have been engaged in the great villany of stealing the State Government from the people.

Under the sharp and thorough searching of the building made by General John Marshall Brown they were dragged to the light, and their power to commit slaughter upon innocent people prevented.

A STRONGER LIE.

At a mass meeting of Greenbackers in Wilmington Tuesday night, one Springer, who has been in Maine, made a speech in which he declared that he and Swan and Harriman, the Fusionist "decoys," were succeeded in an attic of the State House at Augusta to save them from being murdered. The same Springer told of Augusta last week that he saw Republicans buy votes in the street in Portland on election day.

We publish elsewhere the letter of Mr. Sproul to the Somerset Journal in reply to the base and unfounded slanders of Pillsbury's Standard, hinged upon him because he would not participate in the proceedings of the rogue Legislature. Mr. Sproul's letter published in THE WHIG AND COURIER of the 24th of December, in which he announced his intention not to put in his appearance at the organization of the House, was the signal for them to begin to canvass and threaten him in every way possible, to use, with them. With that same hellacity of purpose and not which has characterized his life, he expelled their entreaties and scorned their threats, and at last they turned upon him with unknown slanders, with the malicious and wicked intent of injuring his reputation. His brief letter in reply to Pillsbury's slander is the voice of an honest heart, which at the mean at the command of the desperate conspirators could not swerve from the right. Mr. Sproul stands to-day before the whole country an honest, honored and respected man, whom his foes are spit of blom on.

The Chicago Journal suggests as an appropriate Presidential ticket for the Democrats, Governor of Maine and Barksdale of Yazoo, and the Aurora News thinks if they put Garcelon at the head of the ticket, Barksdale will shoot him just after inauguration, and if they put Barksdale at the head, Garcelon will steal it away from him after election.

Frank Leslie, the publisher, died in New York Saturday. Originally an engraver, he engaged with remarkable business energy and enterprise in the publication of illustrated literature, and several of his serials, particularly "Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper," succeed with correspondingly great success.

THE SWAN BRIBERY SLANDERS.

THE DESPERATE DEVICE OF DESPERATE CONSPIRATORS.

The following despatch sent over the wires from Augusta by the Editor of this paper, was repeated by telegraph to Bangor so late Sunday night that it was received on the premises of neither:

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 25, 1880.

J. W. Simonton, Agent Associated Press, New York, N. Y.

The special regret concerning Mr. Blaine, to which you referred in your despatch to me yesterday, has come to hand. It contains simply in a statement that White, the alleged briber of Swan, was seen to go to and from Mr. Blaine's residence about the time the alleged bribe was delivered. The entire absence of significance in this fact will be appreciated when I mention that from my apartment and personal knowledge that Mr. Blaine's residence does not breakfast hour' to midnight of that day, and indeed every other day during the week, has been constantly filled by a very large crowd, averaging from fifty to a hundred and fifty persons, including a large portion of the Republican Senators and Representatives and their friends from all parts of the State. The large drawing rooms, conservatory, reception room, dining room, billiard room and halls have been given up to the crowd of interested Republicans, with not limit or restraint. Mr. Blaine himself spent most of the day in his private library with the advisory committee, and Mr. White says that he never saw him during the entire day, except while he was passing hurriedly from one room to another.

Had I known the character of the report about which you telegraphed to me, I should never have shown your despatch to Mr. Blaine and thus given the charge so serious a character as to require any notice from him. The matter has never even been intimated in Augusta, and the universal feeling here is that the bribery case was one of the most despicable and transparent of put up jobs. You need not be surprised at any absurd or wicked rumor concerning Mr. Blaine from the baffled and diabolical conspirators for whose exposure and overthrow he has been incessantly at work for the past eight weeks. One day they telegraph that he has had an apoplectic stroke when they know he was in perfect health, and another day they invent a bribery charge and send lying despatches to distant cities connecting his name therewith.

Mr. Wallace White, the person accused of paying the bribe is a young man under thirty years of age, a lawyer, resident in Wintrop, of irreproachable character and stainless reputation. The character of his accusers will be exhibited to the satisfaction of the public when the formal investigation is made. They stand to-day as self-confessed criminals, punishable with heavy penalties, under the Statutes of Maine. But the chief criminals lie behind them in the persons of those who concocted the wicked scheme, and they are the men whom public justice is most anxious to overtake, expose and punish. The motive of the Democratic conspirators in putting up the job is very apparent. They had already lost three of their members against whom they had in vain hurled the charge of being bribed. They were in a positive panic lest other members should turn back from the crime of stealing a State Government, for which purpose they had been fraudulently counted in. To counteract this unruly tendency among their followers, who feared some decency and some consequences left, this game of bribery was put up in order to taint every Democrat who dared to be honest, that he would be branded as a bribe taker and destroyed in reputation if possible.

When the whole of this conspiracy in which the bribery case is a mere incident shall be brought to light and exposed as it soon will be, the country will stand aghast at the audacity and the infamy with which the Democrats and Greenbackers of Maine have sought to deprive a whole people of the right of self government. Outside of Maine the crime with all its revolting details has not yet been comprehended or appreciated.

LETTER FROM MR. SPROUL.

THE STANDARD'S BASE SLANDER.

AUGUSTA, January 9, 1880.

Mr. Editor: My attention has been called to an article in the Daily Standard, headed "A Pretty Pup," to which I am called "a rascal," a "rotten wretch," a "dirty wretch," and charged with accepting a bribe. I am now nearly seventy-four years old. I have lived twenty-seven years in Vassalboro, twenty years in Bucksport, and have done business for that time in those towns, and my mode of life is well known to my neighbors and townsmen. This is the first time I was ever accused of crime. As to my being at Mr. Blaine's, I never ate a meal there in my life. As to the charge of bribery, I can say it is utterly false. No person ever approached me in any way for the purpose of bribery, nor intimated such a thing. I did not seek the office I hold. I have done just what my conscience told me was right, and, if I read right, just what the opinion of the Supreme Court bears me out in.

I cannot tell why I should be called a pup, a rascal and a rotten wretch for that act which seems to me to be my duty. I supposed, when I was elected, that I was to act as I thought was right, whether it was in favor of one side or the other. I did not think it just to count in men who were not elected, or deprive Republican citizens of their representation, and to count out men who had been fairly elected at the ballot box. I said so, and acted as I talked. This is the only crime I am guilty of. The law will decide the charges are true or false, and whether I am deserving of the hard names.

E. SPROUL.

We can only conjecture whether the delegates to the Greenback Conference in Washington objected to prayer by the Rev. Dr. La Motte on the ground that it would be an entirely inappropriate in their purpose of debasing the currency as devotional exercises for the sacrifice of a bawling party of pirates, or whether, with the European doctrines of socialism and communism, which are the basis of the Greenback theory, the majority of the party have also adopted the co-ord nate principle of atheism. At all events, the objections to prayer were entirely appreciative to the occasion, unless in relation to the predicament of the cause, which frequently brought forth words not polished criminals to a final appeal to a Power which they have previously insulted and defied.—Providence Journal.

The New Orleans Democrat (Bourbon) says that "the great mass of Louisiana is an active, thrifty, industrious and intelligent population," so long as the heathen chinee rule the legislature with the shot gun, and murderers go unpunished. And no capitalist will invest a dollar in the support of public schools, this valuable class of population will continue to be the "great need" of that State. This is too big and too sad a country generally for intelligent people to seek the broken spots for residence.—Boston Journal.

A retired Spanish soldier, Lopez, is 115 years old. He recently sent to his son at Columbus, Ga., a letter, saying that after forty years of army service he had been retired on $1,200 a year. The son who received the letter is seventy-nine years old.

Hendricks has been strong out in favor of Cornelius. He was present at a meeting of the Hendricks Club, in Indianapolis, when the following despatch was sent to Cornelius with the unanimous approval of those present: "We congratulate you upon your success in the legal and peaceful organization of the Legislature of your State, and the triumph of law and order under your administration. In politics, we admire above all things backbone." This protected the Indiana Democracy, to an attitude of admiration, at the feet of that most consummate ventriloquist of colonels, the unyielding Jackass.—N. Y. Tribune.

The miners in the Kanawha Valley, West Virginia, have taken the law and the railroad care into their possession. An association entitled the "Knights of Labor" having determined not to work, also determined that others should not work, and consequently, taking possession of railroad trains, congregated to the number of some five hundred, overawing engineers and owners of mines where work was going on peaceably and unmolestedly. The Governor of West Virginia being in New York, was telegraphed to, and has given orders for the military companies to be in readiness to protect or suppress a riot, and to protect the miners who are willing to work.

The Tribune remarks: For several months the Tribune has been waiting patiently and confidently for the Democratic patriots of the Nation to rise up as one man, fixing their eyes upon the genial countenance of Mr. Augustus Belmont, exclaim: There is the man to save us! There is the only man who can unite the New York Democracy and lead us to victory in the Presidential race!" Astounding as it may seem, not a Democrat has either risen or exclaimed. There can only be one explanation of this silence—Mr. Belmont has declined positively to stand. He shrinks, naturally from the great outpouring of affectionate tribute which would come from his multitude of friends should he be placed in so conspicuous a position. It must be a great disappointment to them to have his executive modesty deprive them of the privilege of bearing public testimony to his many and peculiar virtues. It is a deprivation which the Tribune shares with them. This newspaper would have taken an inexpressible pleasure in giving this shrinking statesman his full deserts.

The hard companions with which the 18 Afghan murderers who have just been executed met their doom, was no more than might be expected from men of their blood: but it is curious to note how surely, only even the feeble and cowardly Hindu displays the same characteristic. Men who will see their friends tortured and their families butchered without striking a blow, will face unshrinkingly the worst agonies and the most sudden doom of death. The famous Brahmin, Nuncomar, who was hanged for forgery in the time of Warren Hastings, made up his accounts with the most minute correctness on the very morning of his execution, and he being interrupted in the midst of a game of chess by the hangman, bribed upon the latter to leave him to finish that game before the hand of justice fell upon him. The chess player of Cairo is the possible fool of course, as when the British hanged the mutineers of 1857 with pieces of pork in their mouths, by the hands of low-caste scavengers, the two worst degradations he could devise, it is said that he is still living that a Sepoy whose conscience had been changed to blowing from the mouth of a gun, clapped his hands for joy, witnessed the murder of the fetid corpse with his folded arms, and shouted "Long live the British Empire!" the moment before he was blown to pieces.

The reported rescue of shipwrecks in Boston after a week and most lamentable instance of the extent to which the greatest human calamities may be aggravated by ignorance and superstition. It is often found absolutely impossible to persuade the Russian peasants to accept medical aid of any kind, even when in extremity. To all such offers they reply with their wonted fatalism, "If we are to die, no medicine can save us; if we are to live, we don't need it." The prolonged feast of the Greek Church, the practice of baptizing infants in ice cold water, which is would be thought useless to warm, and of clothing them immediately until the age of seven, in compliance with some absurd superstition, yearly cause countless deaths. Nothing is more astounding to a foreigner than the little heed of the means of life the Slavonian takes, which evinced, that during the great cholera epidemic of 1871, in details whose grotesque horror surpassed anything in Defoe's history of the London plague in. One poor woman actually poisoned little babies by a quack which he had brought cheap as soap in the pestilence began and kept standing in a corner of his room ever since, in readiness for immediate use.

The Question of Legality SUBMITTED TO SUPREME COURT.

Awaiting the Decision.

Full Details of the Assembling and Organization of the People's Legislature—The Question of Legality Submitted to the Supreme Court.

Gathering of the Members-Elect at the State House.

[SPECIAL TO THE WHIG AND COURIER.]

AUGUSTA, Jan. 12. Late this afternoon the Republicans brought the crisis to a head by organizing a Legislature of their own in the State House. Between five and six o'clock they commenced entering the State House by twos and threes until there was a large crowd in the rotunda. At that time it was a period of unusual quiet at General Chamberlain's headquarters. Two of the Republican members-elect had dropped in there and in a quiet way asked him if the members-elect who had not been qualified could have the use of the Legislative chambers for the purpose of holding a meeting.

Protected Against Interference.

He told them that he saw no reason why they should not, and as he had to have everything in writing he sat down and began writing an order which they might have as their protection against interference. The General's theory has been that all who claim seats there should be entitled to enter the halls at all proper times and that he would protect them against all outside interference, but would not protect one political party against another.

The Assurance of Protection Given by General Chamberlain.

As he anticipated some protest from the Fusionists against the occupation of the Halls by the Republicans, he deemed it prudent to give them the identical assurance he gave Speaker Talbot of the Fusion House a few days since, the following being a copy:

STATE HOUSE, AUGUSTA, Jan. 12, 1880.

To S. J. Young and Geo. E. Weeks, Esqs.:

Gentlemen—I have received your request for my permission to occupy the Legislative Halls for the use of members-elect of the Senate and House, and have to say in reply that I consider those Halls as subject to their uses for all proper purposes. I expressed the same view to the Hon. J. C. Talbot, on the 8th inst., in the following language:

"I shall not interfere with the occupancy of the Hall of the House of Representatives by those who are, or claim to be, elected by the people to seats therein, nor shall I permit others to interfere. I will guarantee that the Hall shall be ready for their occupancy and peaceable possession when they shall desire."

The same privilege will of course be extended to you as others.

Very respectfully, your obt. servant,
JOSHUA L. CHAMBERLAIN, Major-General.

Dr. Lancaster Alarmed.

While General Chamberlain was writing this order, Dr. Lancaster, Superintendent of Public Buildings, came into his presence in a frenzied hurry and shouted "General Chamberlain, there is a mob rushing up the staircase and are going to break into the Representatives Hall!" "Are you sure it is a mob?" asked General Chamberlain. Lancaster replied that it wasn't the legal House and any other men were a mob.

Lancaster Grows More Excited.

The General quietly told him that every man who was elected by his constituents should be permitted to enter that Hall whether he had a certificate or not. Gen. Chamberlain then sent General Brown of his staff to see who the men were and also to ask Mayor Nash to step in. General Brown reported that the men were all members-elect. Lancaster then yelled, "That is a mob and I forbid them going into that Hall." Then says the General, "these gentlemen will go into the Hall if they desire." "They shan't," exclaimed Lancaster, "I am Superintendent of Public Buildings and I forbid it! I repudiate your authority, General Chamberlain!"

He Snatches The Keys and Runs—Entry of The Members.

Meantime the Door Keeper of the Representatives Hall was standing outside of General Chamberlain's headquarters trembling with terror with the keys of the Hall in his hand. "Shall I open the door?" he asked the General. At that Lancaster snatched the keys from him and ran. Then the General quietly turned to Mayor Nash and said you will please open the door Mr. Mayor. Upon that Mayor Nash hurried up the staircase and with the assistance of others opened the door in their own way, the Representatives-elect following after.

Also the Gas-Lighter Has to Climb.

The hall was enveloped in utter darkness when they entered, Lancaster going in with them and snatching the chandelier lighter too off with it, but he was caught and it was taken away from him and in the next moment the hall was in a blaze of light and the seats occupied with the members-elect, who sat there smiling upon the galleries being filled with spectators in a short time.

The Organization.

They proceeded to organize in the usual manner nothing taking place to disturb the proceedings. After the work of organization was effected a recess was taken and those members who were hungry found a well spread lunch in one of the Committee rooms. Before the House was called to order again there was an interchange of congratulations and every body seemed happy and serene in their minds.

There was no difficulty in the Republican members effecting an entrance to the Senate Chamber, as the doors were unlocked. Meeting with no resistance they went in and quietly took their seats and in a few minutes they, like the House, entered upon the work of organization.

The Test of Legality.

In this way was the possession of the Halls of the Legislature occupied by men who had been deprived of their legal rights by a monstrous fraud and usurpation. The object they have in view is to have the matter brought to the Supreme Court and have the legality of both the Republican and Fusion Legislatures tested.

"E. W. Hill's" Opinion.

The fact of establishing a dual Legislature did not seem to cause much surprise among the Fusionists, and the leaders, Talbot, Hill and others, have laughed over it. Hill says "its all right enough; let the Republicans play Legislature to-night if they want to. We intend to have the chambers to-morrow as Gen. Chamberlain has assured us we should at the regular hour of meeting." W.

Details of the Proceedings.

[TO ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

AUGUSTA, Jan. 12. At twenty minutes to six this evening the Republican members of the Senate and House of Representatives proceeded to the State House for the purpose of organizing the Legislature. The movement was entirely unknown to the Fusionists and but few of the Republicans outside of immediate members were aware of the position of affairs. The news that Republicans had taken possession of the State House spread rapidly and caused great rejoicing among Republicans who have been impatient to have just this result brought about. Mr. Lamson, President of the bogus Senate, when he saw the people assembling proceeded to General Chamberlain's headquarters and excitedly said, "I protest against these men coming in." The General informed Mr. Lamson that he should permit them to come in and stay as long as they pleased. There was no forcible resistance whatever. The halls were lighted, minor officers of the previous Legislatures familiar with the premises taking hold and lending their assistance.

Organization of the Senate.

Hon. Jeremiah Dingley, Jr., called the Senate to order and Austin Harris was called to the chair. Fervent prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Butler member of the House. Charles W. Tilden, Assistant Secretary of the last Senate, called the roll and eighteen Senators responded to the call. A quorum was announced present, it being Republicans, who proceeded to qualify, the oath being administered by Hon. Wm. M. Stratton, Clerk of Courts for Kennebec County. Andrew R. G. Smith was declared the Senator-elect from Lincoln County on the face of the returns. Joseph A. Locke was chosen President, receiving all the votes thrown, 19. Chas. W. Tilden was chosen Secretary; George E. Brackett, of Belfast, Assistant Secretary; Charles W. Tilden, of Castine, Messenger; Charles E. Lovejoy and A. B. T. Chadbourne, Assistant Messengers.

The First Business.

The following order was passed:

Ordered, That a committee consisting of three members of the Senate be appointed by the President to report to the Senate for its action whether the Senate shall call upon the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court for their opinion touching the legal organization of the Senate for the 59th Legislature, and to report for the action of the Senate such questions as the law and facts require in the premises.

Organization of the House.

The Republican members assembled in the hall of the House and were called to order by Hon. Eugene Hale who called upon Rev. A. S. Crane of Winthrop, who offered an impressive prayer. Mark Wentworth of Kittery was made temporary Chairman and Orammandel Smith, of Litchfield, clerk. The roll was called by the clerk who announced that he would call the roll of names of those who appeared from the rolls to be elected Representatives. Eighty-four answered to their names and these with others who came in afterwards, were duly qualified the oath being administered by Wm. M. Stratton, Clerk of Courts for Kennebec county. The House completed its organization by electing Geo. E. Weeks, of Augusta, Speaker, Orammandel Smith Clerk, S. C. [illegible] Assistant Clerk, A. P. [illegible] Messenger, Chas. F. Gatchell and John W. Phinney Assistant Messengers.

The First Business Transacted.

Mr. Hale Presented the following:

Ordered, That a committee consisting of three members be appointed by the Speaker to report to this House for its action whether the House will require the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court to give their opinion touching the legal organization of the House of Representatives for the 59th Legislature of the State of Maine, and as grounds for the action of this House such questions as the laws and the facts demand in the premises.

The order was adopted and A. A. Strout of Portland, L. M. Hutchinson, of Lewiston, and Silas C. Hatch of Bangor, were appointed as the committee.

[illegible] Members Admitted.

Mr. Strout, of Portland, presented the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That [illegible] of Lebanon, Edward E. Hall of Nobleboro, [illegible] Robert M. Loring of Perry—all in this House—be admitted [illegible] prima facie, of the House of Representatives of the 59th Legislature of Maine, [illegible] in the State of Maine.

Questions for the Court.

At a quarter to two the committee to report questions to submit to the Supreme Court submitted a series which it was voted to submit to the Court. The questions are lengthy and yet incomplete and will not be given to the public till tomorrow.

Adjournment.

Both branches adjourned at 2:15 until Saturday, Jan. 17th at 2 P. M.

Lamson's Orders.

Mr. Lamson, "President of the Senate and acting Governor" will issue an order to-morrow ordering the militia not to obey the orders of General Chamberlain.

Arrivals of Dangerous.

Forty enthusiastic Republicans from Bangor came to the city to-night by Pullman train.

The Bribery Committee

held a session this afternoon. Suss, Harriman, Secretary Gove and Solon Chase testified in regard to the alleged bribery of Boyce and Harriman.

Mr. Hale's Speech.

Mr. Hale in closing his remarks relative to the order for submitting questions to the Supreme Court referred to the action of General Chamberlain in displacing the armed band which has been occupying the State House and then said:

"But such a government efficient as it is, well preserving the peace as it does, is not such a government as the people of Maine expect long to live under and to act under, and the people of the State demand a legal civil government and the necessity pressing upon us that such a government should be presented to the people of Maine has brought these gentlemen here to-night. The ninety-one men who have assembled here, not one of whom was not elected by the people as their Representatives, the ninety-one [illegible] assembled here, have assembled and organized a legal House of Representatives, Mr. Speaker, with the great purpose, not of overawing anybody, not of desiring a control that the law does not give them, not by riding rough-shod, as they might have done days ago, but for the main purpose and the great purpose indicated by this order.

All these grave questions shall be submitted to the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, a body which our Constitution declares may be called upon by either House, or by the Governor "on grave and solemn occasions" in order to settle questions, none of which could be graver or more solemn than those now hanging over us, and it is for that purpose that I have offered this order. It is that the people of the State of Maine may have submitted to the Court these questions for final adjudication.

When in a few days there comes from that Court the direction, which its right and authority gives to it, not only will this House obey it, but Mr. Speaker, the people of the State will take it as a final exposition of the law upon the question of the organization of this body and it will be expected that everybody throughout the borders of the State will accept the law as laid down by the Supreme Judicial Court. "It will be a woeful day for the State of Maine when any body shall volunteer to lift his hand against such a decision. The people of Maine believe in peace, they believe, perhaps as no other people believe, in order. They have been represented here by the men whose faces I now see before me. They have been represented here with moderation, with a patience that is exceedingly great and has been long suffering and to-night has brought this matter to the head which we now witness. I offer this order and only make these brief remarks in explanation, not but that it may be well understood, but because I thought it proper that the attitude of this House should be placed clear before the State and the country. Although offering the order I do not myself desire to serve on the committee."

The Speaker then appointed as the committee, Messrs. Strout of Portland, Hutchinson of Lewiston and Hatch of Bangor.

Gove Demanded the Election Returns

GEN. CHAMBERLAIN'S FIRM REFUSAL.

An Important Order Issued.

THE END IS APPROACHING.

Gove Tries to Get Possession of the Election Returns.

[SPECIAL TO WHIG AND COURIER.]

AUGUSTA, Jan. 13. Secretary of State Gove called at General Chamberlain's headquarters about nine o'clock this morning and demanded that the election returns in the Executive Chamber should be given to him as they were properly in his custody. General Chamberlain's reply was that his view of it all along has been that he should hold everything in that Chamber just as Gov. Garcelon left it so that he could turn it over to Garcelon's successor exactly in the same condition in which he found it. The General would not say that he would refuse to deliver the returns to any authority that demanded them that he was satisfied ought to have them. He told Gove again that he should decline to place them in his hands, and if he would make his request in writing he would give him his answer in writing.

Contingency Orders.

At an early hour this morning General Chamberlain cautioned all military organizations to be careful how they obeyed any but legal authority, and for the present to obey only such orders as came from him.

The Morning [illegible].

This morning opened with indications that stirring events were at hand. The Republicans held a caucus at Meonian Hall at an early hour, and a report was given circulation that they had been qualified and were going to the bogus House and take their seats. It was also reported that Lamson had decided to enter upon the discharge of his duties as acting Governor, and would be qualified by the Legislature in joint convention.

At Gen. Chamberlain's Headquarters

there was nothing to indicate that any preparation was in progress to meet any great exigency that was liable to take place so quietly was the business in his office transacted. Yet it was evident from the hurried conversation your reporter had with General Chamberlain that his time and attention would be fully occupied to-day with important business.

In the So-Called House

as the Fusionists took their seats many of their faces wore an anxious look. Nearly every member was in his seat when the Speaker's gavel called them to order at ten o'clock. After the "journal" was read most of the members gave themselves up to reading the morning papers, and their attention was only diverted by a message from the alleged Senate that Randall W. Mills had been elected President pro tem of that body.

A Ridiculous Farce.

As the announcement seemed to be one generally expected it created no surprise and members resumed their reading of the newspapers [illegible] announcement came from this body, proposing a joint convention of both branches to administer the oath of office to "Acting Governor" James D. Lamson, to enable him "to enter upon the discharge of his official duties."

Mr. Dickey, of Fort Kent, moved that "the House concur in the Senate's proposition," and it did, and the bogus Clerk was ordered to inform the so-called Senate to that effect.

At eleven o'clock the bogus Senate came in and took their seats in the House, with the exception of the Republican members, who remained away. Mills, President pro tem of the Senate, took the Speaker's chair, and after silence was restored announced the purpose of the convention.

At the instance of Patten of Penobscot, a committee of three were appointed to wait on "Acting-Governor Lamson" to inform him that "the Legislature" were in convention and "ready to administer to him the oaths required by the Constitution to qualify him to enter upon the discharge of his official duties." The committee consisted of Patten, Hill of Exeter, and Dickey of Fort Kent. In a few minutes the committee reported that "the acting Governor" had replied that he would forthwith attend upon the convention.

After a brief delay, the chief actor in the farce, Lamson, came in, accompanied by Secretary of State Gove, and also by Messrs. Monroe, Brown and Parker, of Garcelon's ex-Council, who now claim that they hold over and will act as Advisory Council to Lamson.

A deathlike silence prevailed when Lamson held up his right hand and took "the oath of office." The members of the convention all stood up and remained on their feet until the farce was over. It was precisely half-past eleven o'clock when the oath was administered.

Gove's Proclamation.

After the oath was signed, Secretary of State Gove then made the following proclamation:

"There having occurred a vacancy in the office of Governor, and James D. Lamson, having been duly elected President of the Senate, he is by the Constitution bound to exercise the office of Governor till another Governor shall be qualified. And he having, in the presence of the two branches of the Legislature, taken and subscribed the oaths prescribed by the Constitution to qualify him to discharge his official duties, I declare and make known to all persons in this State who are in the exercise of any public trusts as well as all good citizens thereof, that James D. Lamson is Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the State of Maine, and that due obedience should be rendered to all his lawful acts and commands as such. God save the State of Maine!"

The pretended Governor, and his suite then retired and went at once to the Executive Chamber, and then the alleged House adjourned until ten o'clock to-morrow forenoon.

Our Conscientious Senators.

Quite an excitement was created in the Senate this morning by a discussion between the one "Stalwart" (Locke) and the Greenback Senators, Patten and Barker, assisted by Strickland of Aroostook, over the reception of the report of the Committee on Gubernatorial votes. Locke made a three-quarter hour speech, reviewing the whole disgraceful proceedings of the Governor and Council in the counting-out fraud, and declared that their action was unquestionably illegal, of course, the two branches as now constituted were illegal, and objected to accepting any report from them or any other committee until the question of legality was fully settled. Patten and Barker said they were sick and tired of this protesting business; they believed (though they did not state they knew it to be a fact) that the Governor and Council tried to act honorably in the matter, but that he was not the Governor of their choice, they did not help elect him, as much as to say the Greenback party ought not to be made to suffer for the sins of a Democratic Governor. The report, however, was finally accepted, a motion to lay it upon the table being defeated by 17 to 1; no Republican being present and voting but Locke.

The Alleged Robbery Council.

After the joint convention of the bogus branches of the Legislature was over they adjourned.

This afternoon the celebrated cases of Swan and Harriman were investigated. White, the alleged "naughty man" who could buy (?) members of the great Reform party, was not present and probably will not be. It is, as he says, beneath his notice; only a guilty conscience need heed any such, and he certainly has not a guilty one. At the proper tribunal, if required, he will promptly appear.

The Fusionists Alarmed.

(To Associated Press.)

AUGUSTA, Jan. 13. The Fusionists were alarmed last night [illegible] the Republicans intended to come in this morning and take possession of the House. The alarm was entirely without grounds as no such plan was in contemplation. There was no excitement whatever this morning, very thin House gathering.

No Recognition.

It having been announced that James D. Lamson, President of the Senate, would this morning assume the duties of Governor, General Chamberlain states that he shall positively refuse to recognize his claims to that position, and furthermore that he will recognize no one as Governor who shall be chosen by the Legislature as at present constituted.

The Fusionists' Programme.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 13. It is now announced that the Fusionists will proceed at once to the election of a Governor and all State officers. This is the general feeling. It is still claimed that Lamson will not be recognized as Governor by Major-General Chamberlain.

THE ECLIPSE.

The Observation at Fresno, Cal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12. A special from Fresno states that the line of totality of the eclipse of the sun passed ten miles north of this place. The weather was perfectly clear. At 33 minutes to 3 the first contact was visible and at 3.48 the obscuration became total. As the last ray of the sun disappeared a corona of clear white light entirely encircling the moon flashed into view, brilliant at the edge of the moon and paling toward the outer limit of the halo. The sun disappeared behind the coast range before the eclipse had entirely passed. During the obscuration the horses of the party showed signs of extreme uneasiness and the fowls of the neighboring ranches sought their roosts as at nightfall, where the eclipse was also total. The thermometer fell eight degrees during the totality.

[illegible]. Yesterday morning as Mrs. John S. Patten was driving down State street, something startled her horse and the animal began to kick and act very badly. Instead of losing all self-possession, however, she immediately reined the horse into the ditch, where he was thrown, and a runaway prevented. Mrs. Patten was also thrown from the sleigh when the horse fell down, but fortunately escaped uninjured, although she struck very near the animal's feet. Several men who were passing at the time hastened to her assistance and secured the horse. The sleigh was somewhat damaged.

THE HUDSON ICE CROP. There are serious apprehensions of a total failure of the "ice crop" in the Hudson River region. Last year at this time over ten thousand men were at work on the Rockland and the Highland Lakes and on the Hudson River, cutting ice from ten to fourteen inches thick. This year there has formed on the two lakes only a couple of inches, the quality of which is much deteriorated by the melting of three falls of snow aggregating a depth of six inches. On the Hudson river above Poughkeepsie, from which is taken the greater part of ice gathered, the situation is even more gloomy. Before Christmas the river was closed and in the bay and bights behind the islands where the tide has little effect, three and a half inches of ice made. Subsequently there was soft weather and snow which together reduced the quality of the frozen product. The hillsides poured their drainage through the ravines deep on the thin covering of the river, depositing tons of dirt, the rains gathered by and flowing waters over the fields on the slopes and the dirty roads and gullies on the lower ground. Then there was enough of cold weather to increase this dirt in the ice on the river, and unless the present warm spell melts the ice entirely this stratum of [illegible]

Quails for Maine.

A general movement is being made to introduce to the fauna of Maine the Quail, Coturnix Communis of Europe. This fine game bird is probably the same species that furnished food to the Israelites after their long march. It is a migratory bird, breeding in the north, and spending the winter in the south, and this habit renders it suited to the latitude of Maine. It lives on the ground and in fields, and its summer food consists largely of insects. First imported to America three years ago, it has bred where liberated, migrated south in autumn, and returned in the spring to breed again in the same localities. The sportsmen's associations throughout the State will probably unite their efforts to procure a large number of quails this winter, to be liberated by parties in [illegible]. The Sagadahoc Association has already voted to contribute to a general fund for this purpose, and other associations are asked to do so. The birds will be delivered in lots of one hundred or more to the clubs or individuals subscribing, in numbers proportionate to each contribution. It is hoped that public spirited citizens throughout the State will contribute to the general fund, and as these birds breed rapidly, we may in a very few years have them in great abundance. CATARRH, ITS ORIGIN AND CURE.

Catarrh arises from disorganized condition of the stomach, vitiated secretions of the glandular system, and impurity of the blood. It is a constitutional as well as a local disease. The symptoms are a partial or complete obstruction of the nasal cavity, a heavy, loaded, disagreeable feeling in the head, clogging up of the throat in the night with a thick, obnoxious matter, having when expelled a healthy appearance, occasionally streaked with blood. Discharges from the nostrils also have a similar appearance, a thick yellowish or greenish mucus, and it is sometimes very difficult of removal, particularly in the morning. In severe cases the odor is most offensive, causing a very unpleasant breath, the sense of smell becomes impaired, the hearing and eyesight affected, a constant desire to expectorate. The offensive fluid dropping down the throat causing almost incessant hawking and spitting with unsatisfactory results. This disease is not noticed in its earlier stages, but as the tendencies are progressive it soon becomes troublesome, disgusting, and rapidly assumes a chronic form, hence the score of sure cures, most of which have proved fallacious. These cures have been applied in all forms, and with various methods of use, but the efforts, in most cases, have been failures. And catarrh still remains troublesome to the victim. If this disease is allowed to continue its ravages the certain results will be an undermining of the general health. The mucous membrane of the nose, air chambers of the head and throat, are the seat of the disease at its commencement, the bronchia becomes affected, then the lungs, tuberculous forms, destruction of the lungs follows, and death must end the course of what was at first a simple inflammation of the air passages; therefore it is reasonable to suppose that a person knowing that he has the early symptoms of catarrh, will seek relief from the first source brought to his notice, whether it be good or bad, he is disposed to make the trial. Thus there is an opportunity for worthless compounds, and useless methods of treatment, all of which tend to destroy the confidence of those so willing to try, but in vain are their efforts. They must continue hawking and spitting, coughing and sneezing, blowing the nose, &c., to clear the passages so that they may breathe easier and obtain a little rest. BENEFACTORS. Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure stamped envelopes with printed return request, at the expense, [illegible]
